Repair Shop Saves Money for Farmers

Labor Saving Tools Aid In Better Farm Practice

Money saved by farmers who do their own repair and maintenance work may not show up in the price of hogs, but it will appear on the right side of the ledger when the year's account books are balanced. Buildings and equipment represent about one-half of the average farm's total investment, and it pays to keep them in satisfactory condition.

In order to do their best work, farmers, like other craftsmen, require adequate tools. Because much repair and maintenance work on equipment must be done during off-seasons and in unpleasant weather, it is wise economy to have a well equipped farm shop. Such a shop should be large enough so that field machinery can be moved inside and also satisfactorily lighted so that emergency repairs can be made at night.

Farmers having electricity available will find that use of certain power equipment will speed up their work and save them time, money and energy. Since many cutting tools are used on the farm, probably one of the first pieces of power equipment purchased will be a tool grinder. Other electrical tools found in most farm shops include post and hand drills, wood lathes, rip and band saws, air compressors, battery chargers, paint sprayers and, more recently, transformer-type electric arc welders.

There's money in repairing your own equipment and there's something else also—most boys are interested in the development of farm shops, a factor which should not be overlooked as a means of stimulating their interest in farming.

Uncle Sam Says

Small business firms can take a wise tip from many of their customers who have built a reserve nestegg of Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan for buying Savings Bonds. The Bond-A-Month Plan at local banks where the owner druggist, the grocer and the butcher maintain checking accounts is equally effective in providing a growing reserve for a business. For example, suppose you own a business which nets a $1,000 a month. By investing $200 a month in Savings Bonds through your bank's Bond-A-Month Plan you would have a $2400 reserve in one year's time.

★ With almost methodical regularity we hear or read of startling new discoveries in medicine. The pace of progress in research has been greatly accelerated. Hundreds of trained people are devoting their lives to organized research where there was but one a few years ago. As soon as the value of a new drug has been established, it is made available to the medical profession. A chronic condition from which you have been suffering may yield to a new treatment today. It is wiser than ever before to see your physician regularly once or twice a year. We take pride in maintaining complete stocks of the newer medicinal agents, ready to serve you on the order of your physician.

The checking stations in Appomattox County will be established at: Madison A. Booker's, Hunter T. Dickinson's, E. Dan Wooldridge's, and Watson's.

Lions Club Has Record Of Community Service

Community improvement has been the keynote of the program of work of the Appomattox Lions Club. The Club is proud of the worthwhile achievements which have been accomplished by the organization. Assistance in providing glasses and eye-testing equipment for children of school age, establishment of a fund to provide a new gymnasium for the school and community, sponsoring of educational work among rural colored people, promotion of community athletics, and sponsorship of the local Boy Scouts are only a few of the varied activities carried on by the Club.

A campaign to raise funds for the erection of a gymnasium at the local high school was conducted, with over $2,000.00 placed in a fund as a nucleus for the gymnasium building fund. Earlier, the Club had raised $1,200.00 for the support of athletics in the high school.
